

Providing free services and support to people most affected by health inequalities.

Facilitator needed to join our Men's Wellbeing Project

£15 per hour equivalent including holiday pay element (£13.39 basic rate)

About Social Action for Health

Social Action for Health is an east London community-based health charity providing services and support to people most affected by health inequalities including those from Black, Asian and Minoritised Ethnic communities and other minoritised groups. We work with communities to achieve social justice, equality and better health and wellbeing for local people.

We have a portfolio of projects which currently includes programmes to support people with long-term health conditions, a peer-mentoring programme for parents with children under 5, various befriending and ESOL opportunities and several community research projects. We also facilitate one-to-one support and group workshops that help people identify their priorities, to manage their health and make positive decisions for themselves, their families and communities. All our projects and services are delivered in an accessible, sensitive and culturally appropriate way, often in community languages and facilitated by 'experts-by-experience' from the local community. You can read more about Social Action for Health and our current projects on our website: www.safh.org.uk.

Role Summary

We are seeking a 'people person' with experience of running and facilitating community group sessions or other community-type work to be a co-facilitator of our growing Black Men's Coffee and Conversation sessions held weekly in central Hackney.

The ideal candidate will possess a deep understanding of and strong ties to the local black African and Caribbean communities, and have insight and awareness in relation to men from these communities and their wellbeing and mental health. They will either have, or be able to develop quickly, ideas of how to support and enhance black men's mental health and wellbeing as part of our wider programme focussed on Black, Asian, and Minoritised Ethnic Men's Wellbeing. The candidate will play a pivotal role in creating a supportive and inclusive environment for participants to engage in meaningful conversations about wellbeing and related topics.

Additionally, they should demonstrate good written and oral communication skills in English and be aware and able to follow organisational policies and procedures and be able to explain them to others.

This work provides a fantastic opportunity to make a direct contribution to the community and to play a key role in supporting black men in our local community.

We are very happy to have an informal discussion with you before you decide to apply. Please email info@safh.org.uk and we will arrange a time to call you.

To be eligible you must and be aged 18+, have the right to work in the UK and ideally be able to commit to the working every Tuesday in Central Hackney from 1.30pm to 4pm for a minimum of six months (subject to normal holiday and similar absence). There is likely to be additional work available depending on the charity needs and your availability.

Applications should be made by email to info@safh.org.uk. To apply for this role, please provide the following:

1. Up to date C.V. (no more than 2 sides of A4) including contact details of at least 2 referees. We will not take up references ahead of interview.
2. A short supporting letter or statement that explains how your skills, experience and personal qualities make you suitable for the role. Your supporting statement should be no more than 1 side of A4. We are also open to applications in other formats (audio file, short video for example), or however you feel comfortable. Please also confirm that you are entitled to work in the UK.

This is rolling application until we find the right person, so please apply as soon as possible. We reserve the right to close the advert at any time.

Short, informal interviews will be held online at a mutually agreed time, followed by meeting in person as agreed. . If you need any support with this or have other access requirements, please let us know when you apply.

We value all applications but may only contact you if you have been shortlisted for interview depending on the volume of applications.